

undone

by silvia chen

a collective that utilizes unconventional garments & accessories, and genuine conversation to unravel faith-based/church communities and culture — to encourage one another to build a more edifying & loving community, and to be honest about seeking and pursuing faith together

video series

I also didn't want to be there, I was flipping tables, making castles out of tables

